LO: To mind map different items the snowball picked up when rolling down the mountain.

Today we are going to be reading initial sounds or words.

Please refresh your memory of the story either by watching it, looking at the story map or looking at your mind map from last week.

You are going to find the right initial sound or word which matches the picture shown.

I have made a video and this is on class dojo explaining how the activities work. In school I would have a whole class input then the children go and do their learning choices. During this time we call children over to work in guided groups.

I will send you the activity, via messages on class dojo, appropriate for your child to work through.

Please upload photos onto your child's portfolio.

Thank you.
