This is the punctuation Tony Bradman used in Viking Boys but remember some of the use of colons, semi-colons and dashes is down to personal choice.

Dashes tend to be more informal.

a) "I was just trying to be friendly - I know the best places to eat."

b) Gunnar felt a chill of fear as he studied them - nine tall women warriors in black chainmail and black cloaks.

c) He thought quickly ; he could pray to Odin here in the forest of course but there was a better place.

d) The old man had been friendly and generous : Gunnar guessed he had left the bag for him.
