

Wednesday 24th February

LO: Non-chronological report

Structure	Topic title covers the whole subject
	Introduction paragraph gives who, what, where Information organised into paragraphs with subheadings
	Some information may be in fact boxes or bullet-point lists
Grammar and Vocabulary	Factual language
	Formal tone
	Technical language
	Present tense
	Third person
	Powerful adjectives and adverbs to entice the reader - Interestingly, ... Curiously,...
Use of 'generalisers' - many, some, a very few, usually Conjunctions - Furthermore, In addition, Moreover
Punctuation	Commas to make meaning clear

1) Today you are going to write the rest of your non-chronological report using your notes from Monday

Here is an example to help you.

Surprising South Africa

South Africa is a country of contrasts from the people, known as the Rainbow Nation, to the stunning landscapes and wonderful wildlife.

Geography

South Africa has many interesting geographical features. It has mountain ranges, grasslands, plateaus and deserts. Interestingly, the Kalahari Desert in the North of the country is not really a desert, despite being called this, because it often has too much rainfall. In this highland area is the city of Johannesburg but most of the bigger cities such as Cape Town, Durban or Port Elizabeth, are located near the coast in low-lying areas.

2) When you have finished read back through your work.

Check your spelling and punctuation. Have you included all the text features ?